ISO 9001:2008 Certification

This letter confirms that Acura Embedded Systems is in the process of updating and implementing the appropriate and required Quality Management System to qualify for ISO 9001:2008 certification.

It is expected that Acura Embedded Systems will successfully complete the necessary assessment, development and implementation of the Quality Management System for certification within a reasonable amount of time. Acura Embedded Systems has the elements of good business practices and this updated certification will support and strengthen their continual demonstration and commitment to quality service and customer satisfaction.
